The world is going through a moment of questioning in all fields, especially in Health, with deep changes in knowledge, teaching, and practice. If, on the one hand, we are faced with a greater demand to follow the development and the advancement of increasingly complex technologies, on the other hand, we are financially and socially deprived of using these resources in an orderly and oriented manner.

In Endodontics, it is not uncommon to have a gap between these innovations and the practical activities of daily life, with the exception of a few professionals who can achieve high levels of training, and add to the knowledge acquired all the learning generated by practical experience. And what is the role of an entity like SBEndo in this context? I would say that there are several roles, ranging from the professional function of offering the possibility of qualification to endodontists — by supporting them in order to provide scientific and practical updating, by ensuring continuing education — to the social function of cementing fundamental pillars for their growth, by directing them to good practices in the specialty and to the well-being of their patients. In this sense, after months of study and structuring, SBEndo presents the establishment of the Professional Update Certificate, which aims to promote the continuous improvement of professionals who work directly in the area of Endodontics, by encouraging them to update, and ensuring that the area maintains its success rates at high levels.

The Certificate, in accordance with the requirements established in its norms, will attest the professional competence of the endodontist regarding his constant updating, by evaluating attendance and performance in scientific activities and courses, authorship in publications etc., in addition to making it possible to take an annual certification test, qualifying him to perform his activities. The Society hopes that this certification will generate enthusiasm in the professional advancement of the endodontist for the possibility of receiving a significant distinction and create an endodontic collective conscience that only with uninterrupted education and professional ethics, we will be able to achieve our highest goal of offering health through the best mastery of our practices, always with high quality and greater predictability.
